

Superannuation trustee

Every super fund is required by law to have a trustee, which is a semi-independent body appointed to ensure that your fund is being operated according to the best interests of all the members and according to superannuation law.